

Atlantic Equities LLP selects Itiviti's global OMS solution to replace Bloomberg SSEOMS

New York, September 26, 2019 – Itiviti, a leading technology and service provider to financial institutions worldwide today announced that Atlantic Equities LLP, a US equity agency brokerage firm has selected Itiviti to replace Bloomberg's SSEOMS platform with its multi-asset OMS.

Using Itiviti's High Touch, Low Touch and Post Trade suite of solutions, Atlantic Equities will have a full equity order management system to help service its institutional investors by providing them with order execution through a wide range of DMA products and algorithmic trading suites. In addition to supporting Atlantic's core trading desks, Itiviti's solution will be utilized by Atlantic's Frankfurt-based team in preparation for the UK's potential withdrawal from the EU.

"Using Itiviti's fully hosted order management system, Atlantic Equities LLP can provide their clients with a better experience utilizing our highly configurable platform. This deal signifies yet another successful SSEOMS migration to our already long list of migrated clients and we look forward to continuing to execute our strategy of being the only alternative for SSEOMS clients requiring a replacement solution."

"After a full and thorough review of the solutions available to us in the market to replace SSEOMS, I am very pleased to announce that Itiviti was the only viable alternative capable of supporting our requirements," said Rupert Della-Porta, Chief Operating Officer, Atlantic Equities LLP. "We felt Itiviti's comprehensive offering and deep expertise will enable us to take our business to the next level. We look forward to working with Itiviti as our new strategic partner."
